

Katiuscia Cipri

Katiuscia Cipri was professor of Alternative Energy Systems and Rational Use of Energy. MSc in Engineering, PhD in Energetic, she is researcher at the Department of Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering. She has a long scientific experience in renewable energy technologies, internal and external combustion engines, environmental analysis and she is author of a number of papers and publications on cryogenic systems, stirling engine and thermodynamic theory. Katiuscia Cipri was project coordinator of MANSUR project and local coordinator of MUREE project. At present, she is coordinating n. 1 Tempus Project, named JAMILA, and n. 3 ERASMUS+ proposals in Viet Nam (ECO-RED), Latin America (DIEGO) and MENA Countries (DESIRE).