

Prof. Ana Barata

Professor at ISEP since 2001, Ph.D. in the field of Communication Sciences - Audiovisual and Interactive Media Arts, granted by the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences of New University of Lisbon (2014), Ana has been responsible for language, communication, and project management-related course units, and co-advisor in several Master's theses. Digital and urban arts, interactive media and communication technologies, and the role of culture and the arts in education and society are her major research passions.