1. Event Description

Lead University: University College Limburg VZW

Co-Lead University: Irbid National University & University of Sousse

Date: 19/10/2021

The University of Jordan & UC Leuven Limburg, Belgium (UCLL) organized European Credit Transfer Accumulation system 2nd workshop. via ZOOM.

On October 19, 2021, an illuminating virtual event took place, marking the second workshop on the implementation of the European Credit Transfer and Accumulation System (ECTS). The workshop was jointly organized by the Lead University, University College Limburg VZW, and esteemed Co-Lead Universities, Irbid National University and University of Sousse.

The collaborative effort between these institutions signifies a pioneering step towards harmonizing academic standards and fostering international educational cooperation. The workshop, held via the virtual platform ZOOM, brought together academia and experts from various corners of the world to delve into the intricacies of the ECTS framework.

The University of Jordan and UC Leuven Limburg, Belgium (UCLL), both well-regarded institutions in their own right, played integral roles in orchestrating this insightful event. Participants were treated to engaging discussions, presentations, and interactive sessions that explored the practical aspects of ECTS implementation. With the aim of facilitating seamless student mobility and credit recognition across European higher education institutions, the workshop touched upon topics such as credit transfer procedures, grading systems, and the mutual recognition of study programs.

This dynamic collaboration not only showcases the dedication of the participating universities to enhancing the quality and transparency of higher education but also highlights their commitment to nurturing a global community of learners. By leveraging technology and uniting academic minds, the workshop successfully promoted cross-cultural dialogue and shared understanding, underlining the importance of ECTS in promoting academic excellence and facilitating international academic exchange.

As the virtual event concluded, participants were left inspired and equipped with valuable insights to further integrate the ECTS framework into their respective institutions. The workshop served as a testament to the power of collaboration in driving positive change in the realm of higher education, and it is poised to leave a lasting impact on the participants and their institutions for years to come
