

Dr. Konstantina (Nadia) Tsoli

Assistant Professor at the Department of Primary Education (NKUA)

Dr Konstantina (Nadia) Tsoli is Assistant Professor at the Department of Primary Education of the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, Greece in the academic subject of "School Pedagogy and Teaching Practice". Her research interests focus on social and emotional learning, emotional intelligence, classroom climate, life skills. She has an active scientific activity with publications of articles in Greek and international scientific journals with judges, chapters in international and Greek collective volumes, volumes of practices of Greek and international scientific conferences and announcements in scientific conferences related to multi-disciplinarity, trans-disciplinarity, social and emotional learning, creativity and innovation in education, etc. She speaks English, German, Spanish, French and Italian