

Prof. Anas Al Nabulsi
Team member

Professor in the Department of Nutrition and Food Technology,
Now he is the dean of the student affairs too.

His Experience: Twenty years of research experience studying microbiology of food and food products safety. Four years of experience in poultry processing, management and planning. Well experienced in current microbiology techniques, food analysis and sampling, design of experiments and analysis of results. Technical expert for meat processing plants (approved by Jordan Standards and Metrology Organization). Experience in GMP's, HACCP, ISO 9001:2008 and food regulations. Internal QMS Auditor based on ISO 9001:2008 (Approved IRCA). Experience in IFT (Institutes of Food Technologists) accreditation.

Member of the editorial board of International Journal of Food Microbiology. Head and member of several National Technical Committees at Jordan Standards and Metrology Organization and Jordan Food Drug Administration.