

Prof. Radwan Abdel Hamid

has a good experience with Energy research projects funded nationally and/or internationally. Some of these projects include: Development of the first hybrid renewable (wind and PV) energy system in Sinai: project funded by USAID coded ULP230 in collaboration with Davis University in California, USA- already completed and delivered.

He is the PI of RDI project (S2/J8/35) to develop the first PV tracking system made in Egypt- already completed and delivered in Dec. 2009. Prof. Radwan has successfully completed a national wind energy project for "Wind farms siting in Egypt based on a GIS-GSS". Professor Radwan is also an active member of the research team in EUROSUNMED- Europe Mediterranean Cooperation on Research & Training in Sun Based Renewable Energies, EC-FP7, 6.3 M Euro, 22M Euro FP7 fund, and STS-MED- Small scale thermal district units for Mediterranean communities, 5 M Euro, EU-ENPI program.