

Prof. Tarek A. Tutunji

Dean of School of Engineering Technology in the Al Hussein Technical University

Email: Tarek.Tutunji@htu.edu.iq

Tarek A. Tutunji is a professor with 20+ years of experience in teaching, research, industrial and administrative roles. He obtained his Ph.D. in industrial engineering and MS in electrical engineering, both from the University of Oklahoma, USA. He has practical experience in manufacturing and design development where he worked with Halliburton Energy Services in Texas and Seagate Technology in Oklahoma. He established the Mechatronics Engineering Department at Philadelphia University. He is currently serving as the Dean of the School of Engineering Technology at Al Hussein Technical University. His research interests are in the areas of Mechatronics, System Identification and Control, Robotics, and Artificial Intelligence.